work

Storyteller: Story time, kids. I wonder if there's any way I could fit right between you two, so we can all see the book.

Girl: What's the story about, Grandma?

Storyteller: It looks like a new adventure for Caillou. It's called "Caillou Goes to Work". Caillou was excited. He was going to go to work with his Mommy.

Mommy: The first thing we have to do is go through the revolving door.

Caillou: I can do it, watch me.

Mommy: All right, go ahead. But don't forget to get out on the other side.

Caillou: Mommy?

Mommy: Oh, dear. Keep on pushing, Caillou.

Caillou: I want to do it again.

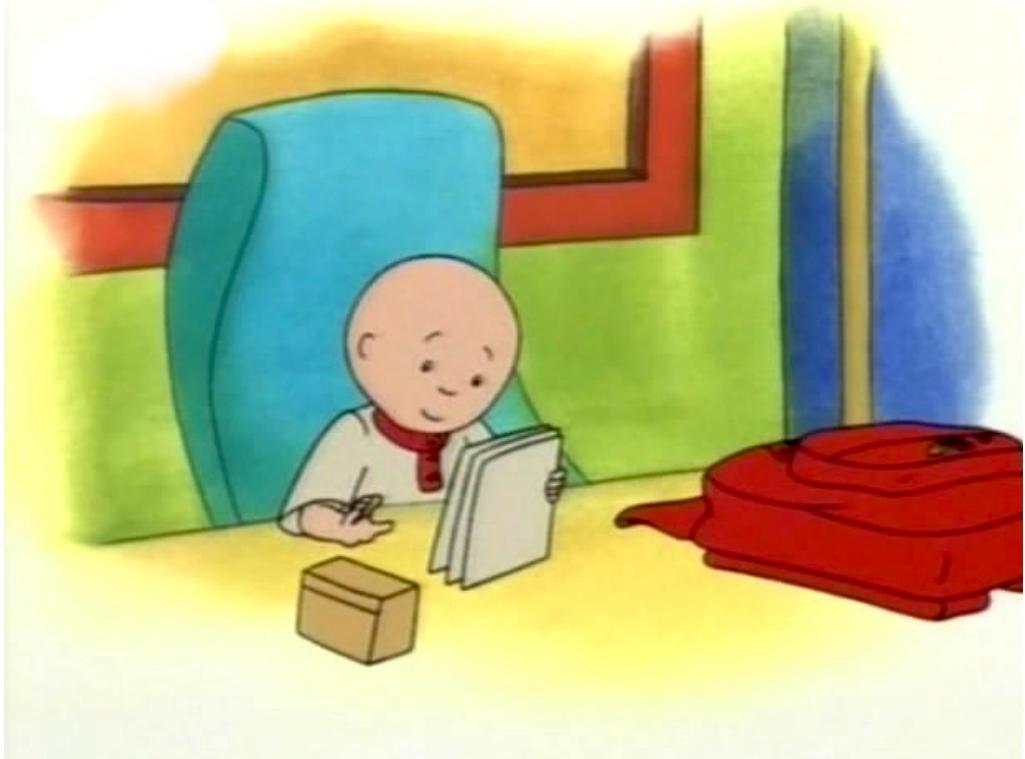

Storyteller: Caillou had never seen anything like this before. There were funny noises around and lots of people he had never met before.

Mommy: Caillou?

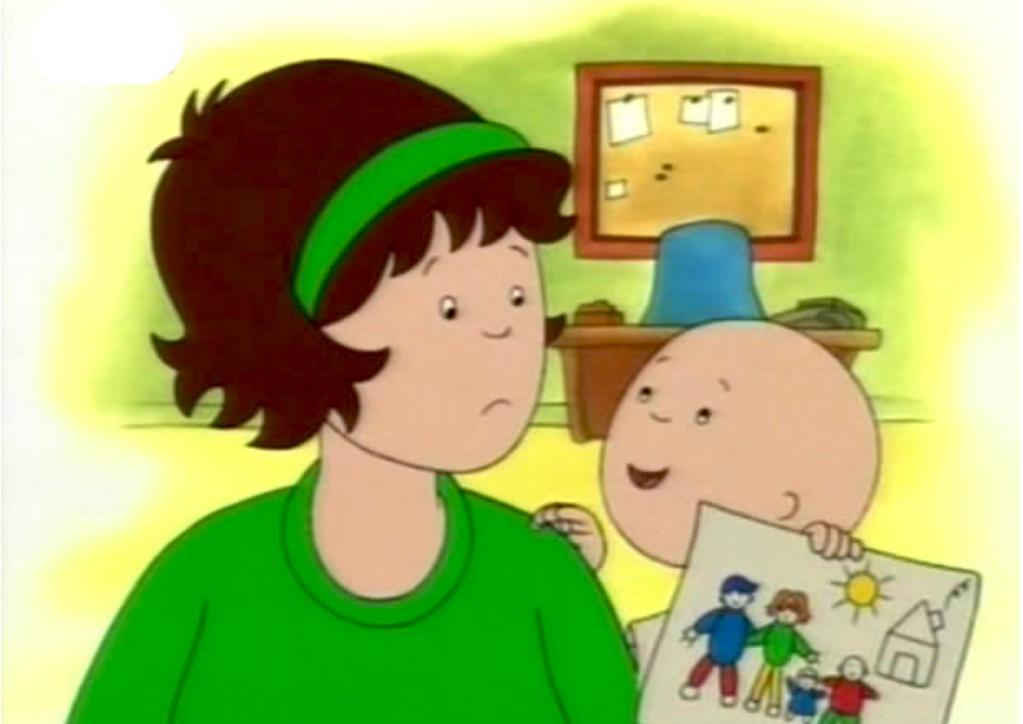

Lady: You must be Caillou. Pleased to meet you. Welcome to the office.

Mommy: Caillou is here to work. Here you go, your very own desk for the day. And what would you like to do?

Caillou: I want to do work.

Storyteller: Caillou thought that working was writing on paper.

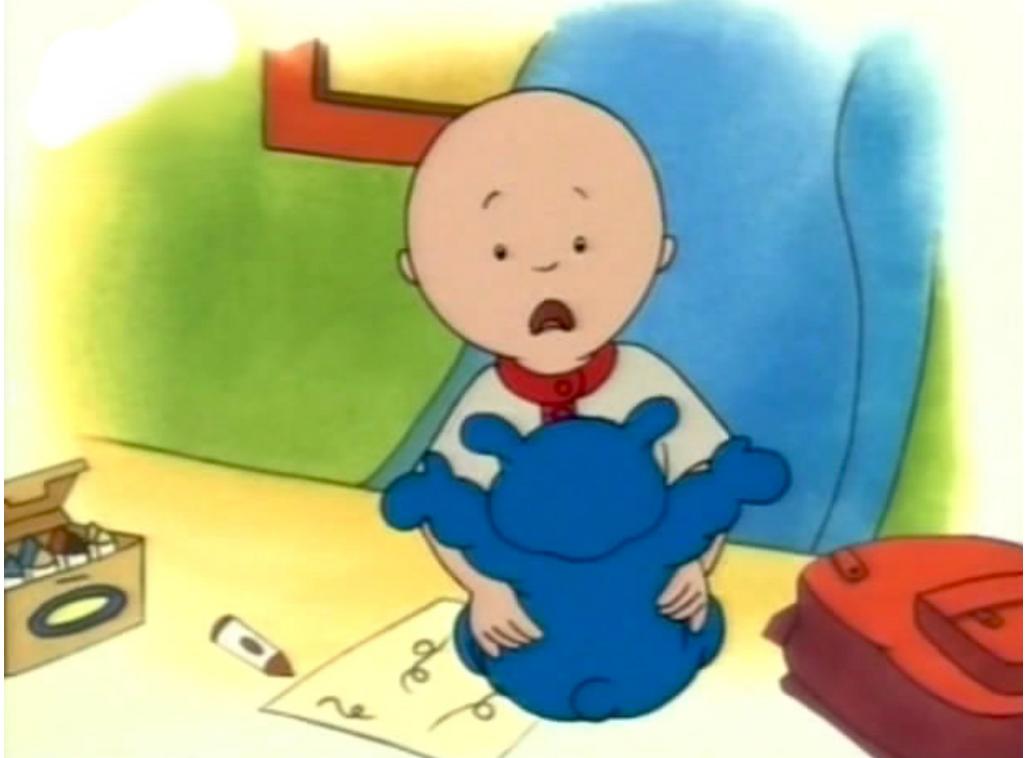

Caillou: I can work with that. I'm finished.
Look, Mommy.

Mommy: That's great, Caillou. Just a minute.

Caillou: Look, Mommy. This is you, this is Daddy, this is Rosie and this is me. Take it, it's for you.

Mommy: It's beautiful, Caillou. Thank you. You did a really good job.

Caillou: Can we play now?

Mommy: I can't just right now, Caillou. I have a bit of work to finish first. Maybe you can draw another picture.

Caillou: Hello, Teddy. Mommy's work takes a long time.

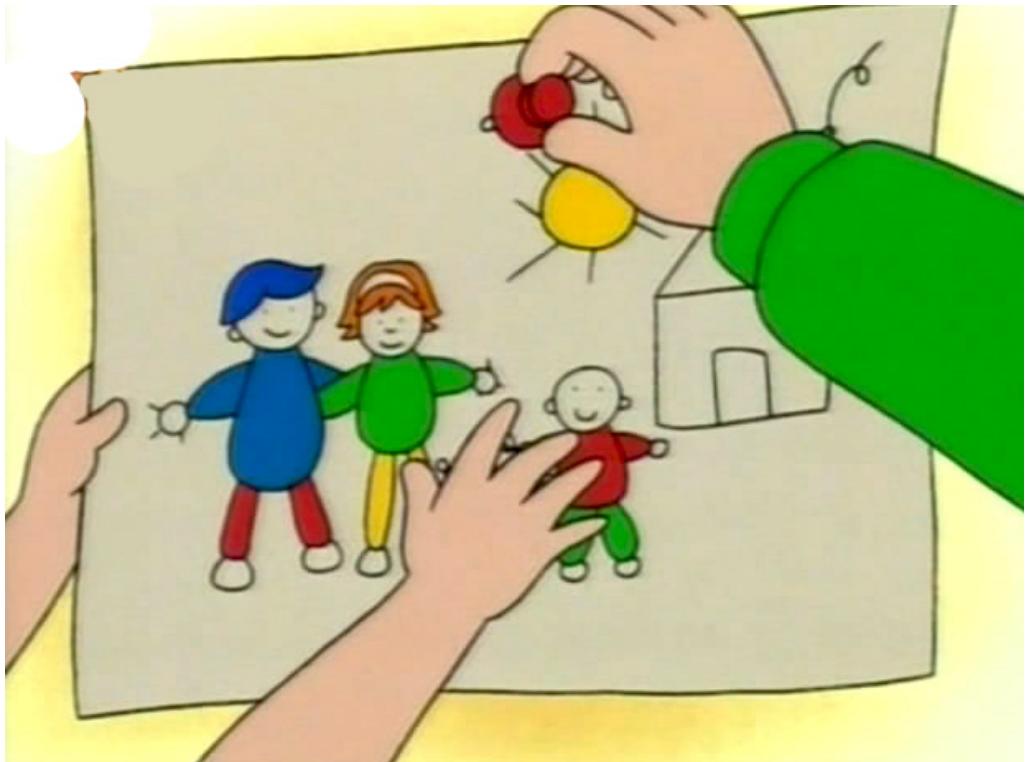

Mommy: Caillou, I'm not quite done with my work yet, but I have a surprise for you.

Caillou: Hello? Daddy. It's me, Caillou. I'm working with Mommy. I'm doing work. Teddy is with me. I love you, Daddy. Bye.

Mommy: What do you say we have some lunch?

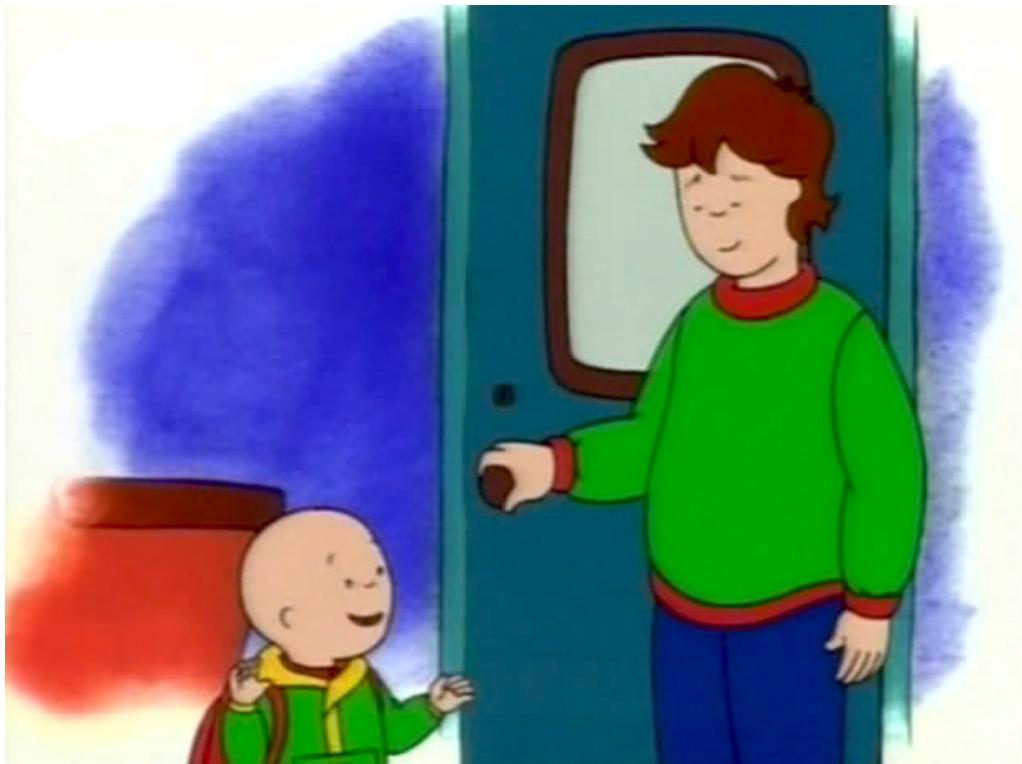

Storyteller: Caillou and his Mommy took out their lunch and had a great picnic with Teddy.

Mommy: Why don't we put up your drawing on my bulletin board? That way everybody will see it.

Caillou: Yeah! I wanna do it.

Daddy: Wow. It looks great.

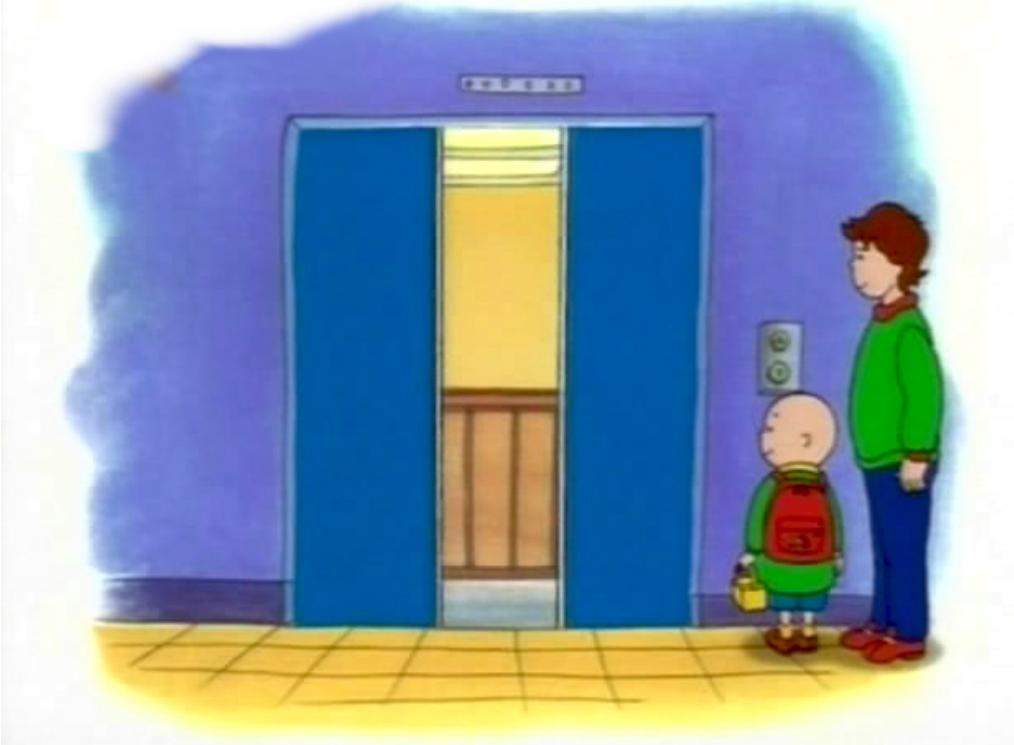

Caillou: Hey! Daddy!

Mommy: Here you go, I'll see you later at home.

Caillou: See, that's the office where Mommy works.

Daddy: That's right.

Storyteller: Caillou was really proud to show his Dad everything he knew about the office.

Caillou: Wait, I wanna show you.

Storyteller: The doors were very heavy, so Caillou's Daddy decided to help.

Daddy: You really have to be strong to push these doors.

Caillou: I know.

Storyteller: Caillou told his Daddy all about his day at work.
